Press the MODE button B until the indicator light corresponding to the required mode lights up Light O airconditioning mode Light N fan mode Light P dehumidifying mode When the room temperature is low the fan speed is automatically set to low. When the appliance is operating in dehumidifying mode, you should ideally use the continuous drain function and hose supplied as standard 19 The appliance should be placed on a perfectly horizontal surface a maximum of 20 cm high to facilitate collection of the drained water fig. If you cannot use the continuous drain function, dehumidifying is still possible but you must empty the internal tank through the drain outlet at the back every 45 minutes or so. When the dehumidifying mode is selected, the light P comes on. At the set time, the air conditioner shuts down and remains in standby. Light H stops flashing.
